Why Vote

MARGARY FOR VP?

Margary is a visionary leader and forward thinker. She has a strong working knowledge and clear understanding of NCRA's core values, policies and procedures, strategic plan and bylaws, which is a requirement of the Vice President. She will bring diversity and diverse perspectives as she serves on the executive team of the NCRA board as Vice President. Rogers is known for her creativity and passion for our profession. She is a problem solver and strategic planner. She connects with every generation and recognizes that members want to be heard, seen, and understood. She was born to win and thrives when working on teams. She is a professional who has mutual respect for others, even those she disagrees with. She advocates throughout the year on Capitol Hill for stenographers as well as community issues. Margary has and will continue to promote and protect our profession, by any means necessary.

Born to Lead

Leading at a very young age, from high school as a graduate of the Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA), program, through college as a Resident Assistant (RA), in her profession as a Court Reporting Instructor (CRI), as president of the Maryland Court Reporters Association, and as Director of NCRA, has prepared her for the position as Vice President.

Testimonials

My name is Anna Sohn and I previously studied with Margary through the Discover Steno A-to-Z program. After finishing the program with her, I enrolled at Cuyahoga Community College to study Captioning and Court Reporting.

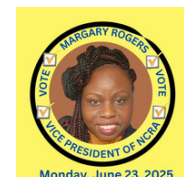

Margary is a dedicated, organized, and passionate teacher and helped fuel me in the direction of starting stenography school. During classes, she taught material clearly, fielded every question with kindness and patience, and approached sessions with a positive and encouraging attitude. In my opinion, the hallmark of the classes was the way she brought in stenographers working in wildly different fields as guest speakers, to introduce us to the possibilities that stenography opens. For example, she brought in official court reporters, freelance court reporters, international court reporters, CART captioners, and more to speak to us. Apart from the A-to-Z program, Margary has a generous and caring nature that shines through the volunteer work and promotion she does for the court reporting profession. She uses her time to organize events, advocate for stenographers, and contribute to the court reporting community as well as her local community. I've noticed that among the events she organizes, she not only focuses on elevating the professionalism and diligence of her fellow court reporters and students, but she also is on a mission to prove that stenography is fun and exciting. I am confident that Margary has the qualities of organization, leadership, trustworthiness, and passion required to serve the NCRA and the wider court reporting community, and I am pleased to recommend her for the position of Vice President.

Sincerely,

Anna Sohn

To The Members of National Court Reporters Association

I am pleased to be submitting this letter of recommendation on behalf of Ms. Margary Rogers, who is an extraordinary candidate for the position of Vice President of the National Court Reporters Association (NCRA). I met Margary when she planned and coordinated an information meeting with Suited for Change (SFC) and the National Court Reporters Association. The meeting was very successful and led to Margary organizing a day of service for members of NCRA at SFC and leading a clothing drive that directly supported women in our community who are attempting to re-enter the workforce. Margary serves as one of the core volunteers at SFC where she utilizes her professional expertise while presenting workshops at various Women's shelters in Washington, DC. Margary's passion for community service activities does not end with SFC, Margary continues her volunteer service as an active member of the Washington Section of the National Council of Negro Women (WSNCNW). Margary has supported the WSNCNW's marketing efforts to the community. She has served in a vital role with the Civic Engagement Committee, representing and leading presentations regarding voter education, voter registration drives, "Stepping into Success" shoe drive, "Purses With A Purpose" purse drive, and other community service efforts. Margary has also actively supported fundraising efforts by sitting on our silent auction and Jazz luncheon committees. Margary has a true desire to serve others and because of her kindness, and gentle spirit, she is well respected within WSNCNW and the community. She seeks ways in which to assist others and is willing to lend a helping hand. When Margary is leading a project, she is very organized. Her experience is invaluable to any organization while providing leadership and guidance. Margary knows how to get the job done effectively and efficiently. Our community is a better place and lives have been directly affected by the work that Margary does at WSNCNW and SFC. She has a giving and community-centered spirit. I am certain that the National Court Reporters Association will benefit from the experience, dedication, integrity and commitment to serve that Margary will bring to her new position. I would be more than happy to discuss her qualifications further if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Diedra M. Yates
