

August 2021

Welcome to NCRA's student newsletter, Up-to-Speed, featuring insights and tips especially for court reporting students. In this issue, find out how to lift off your career, work with a scopist, everything you missed at the NCRA Conference & Expo in Las Vegas, Nev., and meet our latest scholarship winners.

Student spotlight

From professional figure skater to court reporting student

Alisha Conley started skating at three years old, and by her early teens was competing in British figure skating championships. At 18, she auditioned for Disney on Ice and spent the next decade traveling the world as a professional skater. Now Conley is preparing for her next career as a court reporter. After attending the 2021 NCRA Conference & Expo in Las Vegas, Nev., she shared her story.

School spotlight

NCRA SCHOOL Spotlight

South Coast College and Plaza College

In every issue we highlight NCRA-approved schools. The court reporter programs offered at these schools have met the General Requirements and Minimum Standards established by the Council on Approved Student Education of NCRA. This is a chance for members to get to know these programs and hear from their students and teachers. This time we feature two schools:

Planning your career

Career Launcher Program lifts off

After a 10-day social media countdown with four videos that attracted over 4,500 views, NCRF's new Career Launcher Program successfully lifted off with a webinar that drew over 100 participants eager to learn more about this innovative, self-paced, educational offering that consists of mock deposition modules with transcription assignments.

What does a scopist do?

By Linda M. Lee

Lately I've noticed an uptick of queries in court reporting-related forums asking what, exactly, a scopist does in a transcript. And I respond that full-audio scopists like myself – which, as far as I'm concerned, is the only thing that qualifies as scoping — go line by line. As you might imagine, it takes time, and there's no cutting corners nor magic wand involved in this painstaking process.

Students, be intentional and be successful

By Jen Krueger

School is gearing up around the county for students of all ages, grades, and adult education courses of study. Court reporting students looking forward to starting a new steno program, or continuing in their steno program, or finishing and moving into a job should adopt an attitude of intention.
