Registered Diplomate Reporter

RDR designates the highest level of certification available to court reporters and distinguishes high-level, seasoned reporters as members of the profession's elite. RDRs have demonstrated that they can write at higher speeds by having achieved the RMR and by passing a challenging written exam that tests competencies in technology, reporting skills, and professional practices.

Registered Diplomate Reporter

RDR designates the highest level of certification available to court reporters and distinguishes high-level, seasoned reporters as members of the profession's elite. RDRs have demonstrated that they can write at higher speeds by having achieved the RMR and by passing a challenging written exam that tests competencies in technology, reporting skills, and professional practices.

Registered Diplomate Reporter

RDR designates the highest level of certification available to court reporters and distinguishes high-level, seasoned reporters as members of the profession's elite. RDRs have demonstrated that they can write at higher speeds by having achieved the RMR and by passing a challenging written exam that tests competencies in technology, reporting skills, and professional practices.

Registered Diplomate Reporter

RDR designates the highest level of certification available to court reporters and distinguishes high-level, seasoned reporters as members of the profession's elite. RDRs have demonstrated that they can write at higher speeds by having achieved the RMR and by passing a challenging written exam that tests competencies in technology, reporting skills, and professional practices.

Registered Diplomate Reporter

RDR designates the highest level of certification available to court reporters and distinguishes high-level, seasoned reporters as members of the profession's elite. RDRs have demonstrated that they can write at higher speeds by having achieved the RMR and by passing a challenging written exam that tests competencies in technology, reporting skills, and professional practices.

Registered Diplomate Reporter

RDR designates the highest level of certification available to court reporters and distinguishes high-level, seasoned reporters as members of the profession's elite. RDRs have demonstrated that they can write at higher speeds by having achieved the RMR and by passing a challenging written exam that tests competencies in technology, reporting skills, and professional practices.

Registered Diplomate Reporter

RDR designates the highest level of certification available to court reporters and distinguishes high-level, seasoned reporters as members of the profession's elite. RDRs have demonstrated that they can write at higher speeds by having achieved the RMR and by passing a challenging written exam that tests competencies in technology, reporting skills, and professional practices.

Registered Diplomate Reporter

RDR designates the highest level of certification available to court reporters and distinguishes high-level, seasoned reporters as members of the profession's elite. RDRs have demonstrated that they can write at higher speeds by having achieved the RMR and by passing a challenging written exam that tests competencies in technology, reporting skills, and professional practices.

Registered Diplomate Reporter

RDR designates the highest level of certification available to court reporters and distinguishes high-level, seasoned reporters as members of the profession's elite. RDRs have demonstrated that they can write at higher speeds by having achieved the RMR and by passing a challenging written exam that tests competencies in technology, reporting skills, and professional practices.

Registered Diplomate Reporter

RDR designates the highest level of certification available to court reporters and distinguishes high-level, seasoned reporters as members of the profession's elite. RDRs have demonstrated that they can write at higher speeds by having achieved the RMR and by passing a challenging written exam that tests competencies in technology, reporting skills, and professional practices.